CHAPTER 1

Overview

The website lets Terra Vista neighbors sign up to have their irrigation system winterized. It schedules everyone onto service days, plans the technician's route, and texts neighbors as the technician gets close.

The pages

PAGE	WHO USES IT	WHAT IT'S FOR
Main page /	Neighbors	The sign-up form. This is the address to share with the neighborhood.
Private registration link	Each neighbor	Sent to them by text. Shows their date and place in line, and lets them change or cancel.
/admin.html	Administrator (password)	Open dates, manage every sign-up, see the map, export a spreadsheet, check texts.
/tech.html	Technician (password)	The day's route, "up next", mark houses complete, share location.
/help	Everyone	This manual. Every page has a Help link to it.
/terms.html , /privacy.html	Everyone	Terms & Conditions and Privacy Policy, linked from the sign-up form.

How a season works

1. Open dates The administrator adds service dates.	2. Neighbors sign up They pick every day that works, and a time of day for each.	3. Route is planned The site orders each day's houses by location and time of day.	4. Service day The technician starts the day. Texts go out as each house comes up.	5. Wrap up Unfinished houses move to the next open day.

Morning, afternoon, or any time

For each day that works, a neighbor picks one of:

- Morning They want the morning of that day.
- Afternoon They want the afternoon.
- Any time Either is fine. The site places them in whichever half fits the route best.

Each date has a morning limit (10) and an afternoon limit (15), 25 houses in total. The administrator can change these for any date. When one half fills up, neighbors can still choose the other half or "any time" for that date. When both halves are full, the date shows Full.

A neighbor is scheduled on the earliest date they picked that has room for the time they chose. Their other dates are kept as backups in case the visit has to move.

Choosing dates. The morning of Oct 7 is full, so it's crossed out.

Reading the date list

Each date shows how many spots are left, for example Morning 9 left · Afternoon 14 left.

- If the morning or afternoon of a date is full, that choice is crossed out. You can still pick the other half or Any time.
- If a date is completely full it shows Full and can't be ticked.

Tip: Ticking more than one date makes it more likely you'll get an early slot. You're booked on the earliest one with room. The others are only used if your visit has to be moved.

If something goes wrong

A red message explains what to fix, such as a missing name or a phone number that isn't 10 digits. If the dates you picked fill up while you're signing up, the list refreshes. Pick another date and try again.

If you're already signed up for that address, the site texts you your private link again instead of creating a second booking.

☒ Yes, text me about my winterization appointment from Terra Vista Winterization (Andy Witzke): sign-up confirmation, schedule changes, "you're 2nd in line" and "you're next" alerts, and a completion notice. Today's progress on your private page

Following the technician

On your service day your private page shows Today's progress:

- how many houses are done, how many are still to go, and how many stops are before yours,
- a map with your house (🏠) and the technician's current location, when they're sharing it,
- when the technician's location was last updated.

It refreshes every 30 seconds. To protect everyone's privacy, it never shows other neighbors' names or addresses, only counts.

Integrations shows whether texting and Google Maps are set up, and the web address used in text links. These are changed in the hosting settings (see the Appendix).

CHAPTER 5

For the technician

The technician page is designed for a phone. Log in at `/tech.html`. It opens the day in progress, or else today or the next upcoming date. Use the date menu at the top to switch days.

Before you start

A day that hasn't started yet

The page shows the planned route: a map and a numbered list under Morning and Afternoon headings.

- Morning houses come first, in driving order from the start point. Afternoon houses continue from where the morning ends.
- "Any time" houses are placed in whichever half is closest, without going over that half's limit.
- Until you start, the route updates by itself whenever someone signs up or changes their booking.

Tick Share my location and allow location when your phone asks. Your position then shows on the map for you and the administrator. If you said no by mistake, turn location back on for this site in your browser settings.

No texts go out yet. Neighbors aren't texted about their place in line until you tap Start day.

Starting the day

Tap ► Start day. This:

- locks in the current route order, so it no longer rearranges itself,
- texts the first house "you're next" and the second house "you're 2nd in line",
- turns on location sharing if it isn't already on.

Working through the queue

The "Up next" card and map during the day

The Up next card shows the next house: address, name, phone number, time of day, and the neighbor's notes (highlighted in yellow). It also shows the house after it.

-  Navigate opens Google Maps with driving directions to the house.
- Tap the phone number to call the neighbor.
- ✓ Mark complete when you're done (see below).

On the map, the dark-outlined pin is the next stop. The blue dot is you, and the dashed line is the rest of the route.

The summary under the buttons shows how many houses are done and how many remain. The page refreshes every 30 seconds.

Marking a house complete

Marking a house complete

- 1 Tap ✓ Mark complete (or ✓ Complete on any house in the list).
- 2 Optionally type notes for the homeowner, such as how many zones you blew out or anything that needs repair. These notes are included in their text.
- 3 Tap ✓ Complete.

The homeowner gets a "done" text. The next house gets "you're next", and the one after gets "you're 2nd in line".

Changing the order

- ▲ / ▼ move a house up or down the list. Moving a house to the top texts them that they're next.
- ⤶ Re-plan from here re-orders all remaining houses starting from where you are now. It still keeps morning houses before afternoon ones.

Can't do a house today?

Tap Move to next day on it. The house moves to the next open date with room for their time of day, and the neighbor gets a text with the new date.

Completed houses, with Undo

Tap Completed at the bottom of the page to see finished houses, the time each was done, and your notes. Marked one by mistake? Tap Undo. The house goes back to the top of the queue, and the homeowner isn't sent another "done" text.

Ending the day

Tap End day... If houses are left, leave Move unfinished stops to their next available day and text them ticked, then tap End day.

- Each unfinished house moves to the next open date with room for its time of day. Dates the neighbor picked are tried first.
- Each neighbor gets a text with their new date.
- A house with nowhere to go is marked Needs a date for the administrator. That neighbor is texted that they'll be rescheduled.

Ended a day too early? Choose that date again and tap ► Reopen day.

Location tips

- Location only updates while the technician page is open on screen. Phones pause it when the screen locks or the browser is in the background, so reopen the page between houses.
- Your position is sent about every 15 seconds. The administrator's map hides it if it's more than 30 minutes old.
- Untick Share my location to stop sharing.

CHAPTER 6

Text messages

Texts go only to neighbors who ticked Yes, text me about my winterization appointment on the sign-up form. Every text is listed on the admin Text log tab. Each one starts with "Terra Vista Winterization (Andy Witzke):". Cancelling or deleting a sign-up from the admin page doesn't send a text.

Replies. Texts come from the site's Twilio number. If a neighbor replies STOP, Twilio stops sending them texts. Other replies aren't read by the website, so tell neighbors to call or text the organizer directly.

Questions and troubleshooting

A neighbor says they didn't get a text.

Look them up on the Text log. simulated means texting isn't set up yet. failed shows the reason underneath. If there's no entry, check on the Sign-ups tab that "no texts" isn't shown under their phone number. If it is, they opted out when signing up.

A house shows "Not located" or isn't on the map.

Google couldn't find the address. Click Edit, correct the address (house number and street name), and save, or click retry. Houses that aren't on the map still appear in the technician's list, at the end of their half of the day.

A date is full but I need to fit someone in.

Raise that date's morning or afternoon limit on the Dates tab. To add just one person, use Edit, choose the date, and tick Allow over capacity.

The route order looks wrong.

Set the Route start point under Settings. The technician can also tap  Re-plan from here, or use /. Routes are planned by straight-line distance, so a river or dead end can occasionally make the order less than ideal.

I did a test run and want to start the day over.

On the Dates tab, click Reset status for that date. To undo test completions, the technician can tap Undo, or you can edit each sign-up and set its status back to Scheduled.

Someone needs to be moved to a specific date.

Click Edit, choose the Scheduled day and Time of day, tick Text them if their date changes, and save.

The technician's location isn't showing.

Make sure Share my location is ticked and shows (on), that the page is open on screen, and that location is allowed for the site in the phone's settings. Location sharing only works on the secure (https) address.

The staff pages keep asking me to log in.

Logins last two weeks per device. If everyone is logged out after every update, the hosting is missing the `SESSION_SECRET` setting (see the Appendix).

APPENDIX

Hosting settings

For whoever manages the site on Railway. Settings are entered in Railway under the service's Variables tab. After changing them, deploy the changes when Railway prompts you. Never put passwords or keys in the GitHub repository.

VARIABLE	WHAT IT'S FOR
ADMIN_PASSWORD	Administrator password. Required.
TECH_PASSWORD	Technician password. Required.
SESSION_SECRET	Any long random string. Keeps staff logged in across updates.
ADDRESS_SUFFIX	Plymouth, MN 55446 . Added to addresses so Google finds them in the neighborhood.
TZ_NAME	America/Chicago (the default). Used for "today".
GOOGLE_MAPS_API_KEY	Google key with the Maps JavaScript API and Geocoding API turned on.
TWILIO_ACCOUNT_SID (starts AC), TWILIO_AUTH_TOKEN , TWILIO_MESSAGING_SERVICE_SID (starts MG)	Twilio account details and the Messaging Service your registered campaign is attached to. Until these are set, texts show as "simulated".
ORGANIZER_NAME	Name shown in every text: Andy Witzke (the default).
DEFAULT_AM_CAPACITY , DEFAULT_PM_CAPACITY	Limits pre-filled for new dates (10 and 15).
BASE_URL	Only needed with a custom domain. Otherwise the Railway address is used automatically.

Keeping sign-ups safe

- The service needs a volume attached at /data . Without it, sign-ups are lost whenever the site updates.
- Keep the service at one replica.
- For a backup, use Export CSV on the admin Sign-ups tab.

Google Maps key

In Google Cloud Console, limit the key to the site's address (https://your-site.up.railway.app/*) so others can't use it.

Twilio

US texting from a website requires Twilio's business registration (A2P 10DLC) or a verified toll-free number. Until it's approved, texts may not be delivered. In the Messaging Service's Opt-Out Management, set the STOP, HELP and START replies to match the registration. The website doesn't read incoming texts, so Twilio answers those keywords.
